definition of an ambassador: "An honest man sent abroad to lie for the good of his country." (See "The Vice of Secret Diplomacy," by A. Maurice Low, February, 1918, page 217.) This should read: "An honest man sent to lie abroad for the Commonwealth."

The transposition of the italicized words, doubtless through oversight, entirely nullifies the double entendre and hence the wit of Wotton's "classical phrase."
